BATTLEFIELD
MARY WASHINGTON COLLEGE

FREDERICKSBURG, VIRGINIA

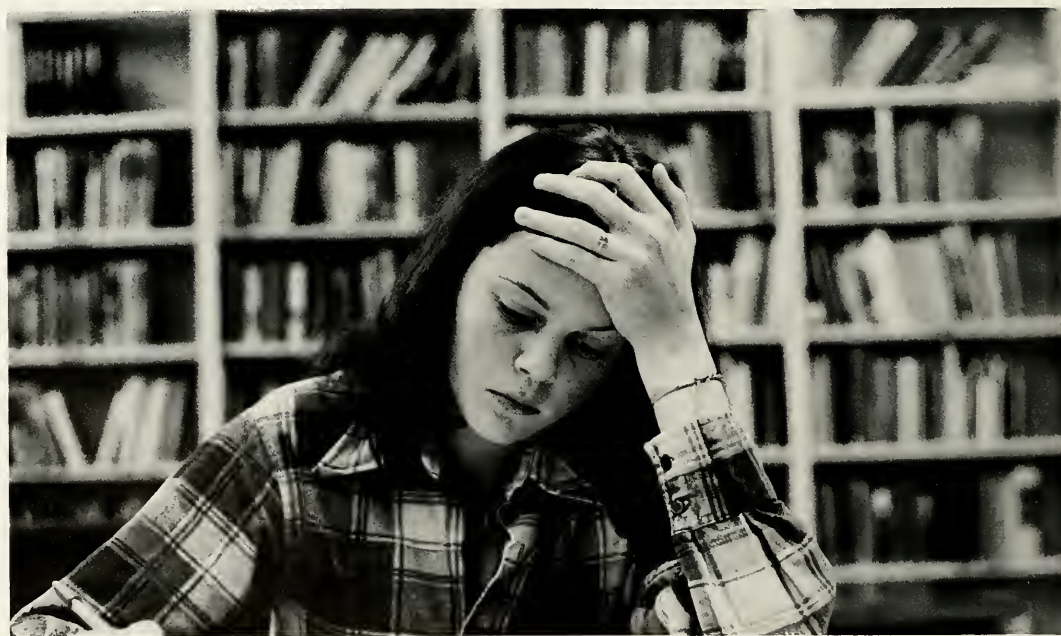

Yearbooks are frequently referred to as “pictorial essays” or the portrayal of emotions, ideas and events through pictures. This is an impossible task, as each of us has our own special moments at MWC we want to see preserved in black and white. As you leaf through the 1977 Battlefield now and in the coming years, let your mind wander beyond the pages into the realm of your own personal memories. If a familiar place or face flashes through your mind, even for one instant, then this book is a success. Enjoy.

Psych

Psychology has become the most popular field of study at Washington College. The social science, which the most popular and for four straight years last year, has moved to spot once more vestered as majors, according to an annual survey of sophomores and seniors on campus.

Psychology, last year's most popular, is second most popular this year with 72 students, according to the survey compiled by the MWC Academic Advising.

Susi Ramzy, Editor-in-Chief, Spring 1977, includes tables on each of MWC's 29 major areas as defined by the Higher Education General Information Survey of the

THE BULLET POLICY

We, the members of The Bullet's editorial board, will use responsible judgement in selecting, editing and presenting news to the College community on the basis of its significance and its entertainment value. The freedom of the board shall be governed by the canons of responsible journalism, including the avoidance of libel. Therefore, we intend to guard against the distortion of the truth by maintaining standards of honesty when dealing with news services and the public. Furthermore, we shall strive for complete objectivity by dealing with controversial issues and disputes within our news articles impartially. We shall promptly correct errors of fact for which The Bullet is responsible and constructive criticism shall be welcomed.

MWC To be Surveyed On Allocation of the Student Activity Fee

by Anne Meaney

Last year the Student Association Finance Committee, which is charged with the allocation of a part of the Student Activities Fee to various organizations and social activities, left $15,559 unallocated to be decided by student vote this year.

The committee formed a Referendum sub-committee to determine how the student would like to see the money spent. The sub-committee held four meetings last semester at which time

Editor's note:

It is impossible to thank everyone personally but special appreciation must be expressed to those whose infinite patience and hard work has made this book possible. Julie, Lisa Rae, Sabine and Jim Ellis, our representative, tie for first place. Vicky, David, Joy, Phil, Patty and Christie are next. We owe the quality photographs to the professional skills of Joseph Saunders, whose standards were maintained by Carolyn and her staff. To the rest of the staff I extend my thanks and finally to the two people who come through no matter what happens: Mom and Dad.

The jobs listed on the accompanying chart occupy virtually all who have and will graduate from college. One or another of these jobs which you haven't heretofore considered might be your cup of tea. Do you know what they all do: actuary, curator, production manager, personnel manager, systems analyst, for instance? A physical scientist with a new specialty will emerge from obscurity in the next five years as suddenly as the ecologist has in the last five. This specialist is known as a limnologist. What does he do?

as students who think in terms of career "Fields" commonly describe their interests.

CAPITALS show the six general Fields of Work which comprehend all the others.

Mary Washington College
Presents
A Bicentennial Lecture Series

The Changing American Dream

The Department of English at Mary Washington College, in conjunction with the College's Bicentennial Committee, will offer a series of lectures this fall in honor of the 200th birthday of our nation. The series will look at how different American authors from colonial times to the present have perceived the success and failures, the hopes and frustrations, of their native land.

The lectures, each delivered by a different member of the Department of English, will be held on Tuesday nights, beginning August 31, at 8:00 p.m. in Room 100 of Combs Science Hall. All lectures are free and open to the public. Persons wishing to receive academic credit for the course, which includes, in addition to the lecture, a classroom discussion on Thursday evenings, may enroll in English 375 on Monday, August 30.

Mary Washington College
Presents
A Bicentennial Lecture Series

A History of Presidential Elections

Open to the Public Free of Charge

The Department of History at Mary Washington College, in conjunction with the College's Bicentennial Committee, will offer a series of lectures that fall in honor of the 200th birthday of our nation in this presidential election year. The series will focus on presidential campaigns throughout our history, from the very beginning through the election of 1976. Each lecture will deal with a particularly critical election, and will examine the candidates, issues, results and historical significance of that election.

The series will consist of one lecture per week in Monroe Hall on the campus beginning on September 1 at 7:00 p.m.. All lectures are free and open to the public. Persons wishing to receive academic credit for the course—which will include the public lecture followed immediately by classroom discussion—may enroll in History 471C on Monday, August 30.
